DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informality: in part (c) the word “hear” is misspelled. For the purpose of examination the word will be taken as “near.”
2. Claims 1-5 are objected to because of the following informalities: in part (b) the phrase “adapted delivering” is missing the word “for.”

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1, 2 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Crowley US 5,588,432. Crowley discloses a therapy catheter with a sensing electrode and an electrically excited acoustic marker at the distal end (abstract, column 4); therapy electrode mounted at the distal end (Fig. 1A, 15A); a drug-delivery lumen (Fig. 7 A-D, column 17, lines 43-65); inflatable balloon at the distal end (Figs. 19a-19c).
5. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yock et al. US 5,029,588. Yock et al. teach (abstract) a catheter for laser ablation with fiberoptic wave guides; laser energy emitted from the wave guide at the distal end (Fig. 1-7); an ultrasonic transducer at the distal end for guiding the catheter.

6. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Walinsky et al. US 4,641,649. Walinsky et al. disclose a catheter for microwave ablation; a coaxial wave guide; an antenna at the distal end for locating and guiding the catheter.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's attention is invited in column 4, lines 30-32, which clearly state that the localizing sonolucent structure is an electrode. Further, the applicant's attention is invited to the definition (<http://www.techweb.com/encyclopedia/defineterm?term=electrode&x=30&y=9>) of electrode as "a device that collects and controls the movement of electrons." Crowley '432 states in the abstract that the acoustic marker for localizing the catheter "emits a sonic wave when electrically excited." Therefore the marker is inherently an electrode since it collects and controls the movement of electric charge.

Similarly, using the standard definition of an electrode it is clear that the ultrasonic transducer of Yock et al. '588 and the antenna of Walinsky et al. '649, used for appropriately locating a catheter for therapy, are inherently electrodes.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
